

Our Economy

Our economy functions like a Ponzi scheme feeding upon the wages of the employed. It demands continual growth and leaves behind the scap of excessive consumption.

Our politicians allow the theft of wealth and the hoarding of plunder. They are pimps servicing the rich and pundits serving platitudes to the poor.

Our rich freely broadcast their messages of manipulation and purchase our indenture. They believe in individualism, liberty, and private property, at least for their social stratum.

Our liberals mortgage future generations by increasing public debt, supporting wasteful programs, and proliferating bureaucratic requirements. They forget past lessons and condemn us to repeat mistakes.

Our conservatives mortgage future generations by cutting education, reducing government services, and delaying infrastructure maintenance. They project the past upon our future and condemn us to repeat errors.

Our selves decay in hopelessness and indifference and play the lottery for salvation. We grow obese upon saccharin treats of food, drugs, and entertainment.

Our minds are entrenched in the dogmas of capitalism, socialism, exceptionalism, and religion. All counter ideas are considered to be heresies and excluded from debate.

We the people must remember that our Constitution is a social contract. It was created by rational minds, not writ from above. Truth is self-evident only through the exercise of mind.
